- Best selling author Bruce Lesh will be conducting this all day workshop.
- There is no charge for the workshop.
- Participants receive a free copy of Bruce Lesh's best selling book.
- Teachers will engage in hands-on activities focused on connecting Literacy and Social Studies and the use of historical investigations to teach historical content.
- The goals of this professional development workshop include:
 - Increasing understanding of the research on historical thinking and historical literacy
 - Developing a cadre of teacher leaders to share these strategies with other teachers in their school and district
 - Providing teachers with a better understanding of the importance of integrating literacy skills, primary and secondary documents into their instructional practices
 - Providing teachers with research-based best practices to engage all learners in the Social Studies classroom
